1.1 Why choose Cambridge?

Recognition

Cambridge International Examinations is the world's largest provider of international education programmes and qualifications for learners aged 5 to 19. We are part of Cambridge Assessment, a department of the University of Cambridge, trusted for excellence in education. Our qualifications are recognised by the world's universities and employers.

Cambridge International AS and A Levels are recognised around the world by schools, universities and employers. The qualifications are accepted as proof of academic ability for entry to universities worldwide, though some courses do require specific subjects.

Cambridge International A Levels typically take two years to complete and offer a flexible course of study that gives learners the freedom to select subjects that are right for them.

Cambridge International AS Levels often represent the first half of an A Level course but may also be taken as a freestanding qualification. The content and difficulty of a Cambridge International AS Level examination is equivalent to the first half of a corresponding Cambridge International A Level. Cambridge AS Levels are accepted in all UK universities and carry half the weighting of an A Level. University course credit and advanced standing is often available for Cambridge International AS and A Levels in countries such as the USA and Canada.

Excellence in education

Our mission is to deliver world-class international education through the provision of high-quality curricula, assessment and services.

More than 9000 schools are part of our Cambridge learning community. We support teachers in over 160 countries who offer their learners an international education based on our curricula and leading to our qualifications. Every year, thousands of learners use Cambridge qualifications to gain places at universities around the world.

Our syllabuses are reviewed and updated regularly so that they reflect the latest thinking of international experts and practitioners and take account of the different national contexts in which they are taught.

Cambridge programmes and qualifications are designed to support learners in becoming:

- confident in working with information and ideas – their own and those of others
- responsible for themselves, responsive to and respectful of others
- reflective as learners, developing their ability to learn
- innovative and equipped for new and future challenges
- engaged intellectually and socially, ready to make a difference.

Support for teachers

A wide range of support materials and resources is available for teachers and learners in Cambridge schools. Resources suit a variety of teaching methods in different international contexts. Through subject discussion forums and training, teachers can access the expert advice they need for teaching our qualifications. More details can be found in Section 2 of this syllabus and at www.cie.org.uk/teachers

Support for exams officers

Exams officers can trust in reliable, efficient administration of exam entries and excellent personal support from our customer services. Learn more at www.cie.org.uk/examsOfficers

Not-for-profit, part of the University of Cambridge

We are a not-for-profit organisation where the needs of the teachers and learners are at the core of what we do. We continually invest in educational research and respond to feedback from our customers in order to improve our qualifications, products and services.

Our systems for managing the provision of international qualifications and education programmes for learners aged 5 to 19 are certified as meeting the internationally recognised standard for quality management, ISO 9001:2008. Learn more at www.cie.org.uk/ISO9001

1.2 Why choose Cambridge International AS and A Level?

Cambridge International AS and A Levels are international in outlook, but retain a local relevance. The syllabuses provide opportunities for contextualised learning and the content has been created to suit a wide variety of schools, avoid cultural bias and develop essential lifelong skills, including creative thinking and problem-solving.

Our aim is to balance knowledge, understanding and skills in our programmes and qualifications to enable candidates to become effective learners and to provide a solid foundation for their continuing educational journey. Cambridge International AS and A Levels give learners building blocks for an individualised curriculum that develops their knowledge, understanding and skills.

Schools can offer almost any combination of 60 subjects and learners can specialise or study a range of subjects, ensuring a breadth of knowledge. Giving learners the power to choose helps motivate them throughout their studies.

Through our professional development courses and our support materials for Cambridge International AS and A Levels, we provide the tools to enable teachers to prepare learners to the best of their ability and work with us in the pursuit of excellence in education.

Cambridge International AS and A Levels have a proven reputation for preparing learners well for university, employment and life. They help develop the in-depth subject knowledge and understanding which are so important to universities and employers.

Learners studying Cambridge International AS and A Levels have the opportunities to:

- acquire an in-depth subject knowledge
- develop independent thinking skills
- apply knowledge and understanding to new as well as familiar situations
- handle and evaluate different types of information sources
- think logically and present ordered and coherent arguments
- make judgements, recommendations and decisions
- present reasoned explanations, understand implications and communicate them clearly and logically
- work and communicate in English.

Guided learning hours

Cambridge International A Level syllabuses are designed on the assumption that candidates have about 360 guided learning hours per subject over the duration of the course. Cambridge International AS Level syllabuses are designed on the assumption that candidates have about 180 guided learning hours per subject over the duration of the course. This is for guidance only and the number of hours required to gain the qualification may vary according to local curricular practice and the learners' prior experience of the subject.

1.3 Why choose Cambridge International AS and A Level Art and Design?

Cambridge International AS and A Level Art and Design is recognised by universities and employers as proof of knowledge and understanding of art and design principles and practice.

Successful candidates gain lifelong skills, including:

- communication skills, especially the ability to communicate concepts and feelings;
- how to record from direct observation and personal experience;
- the ability and confidence to experiment, be innovative, intuitive and imaginative;
- the language and technical terms used in art and design;
- research and evaluation skills;
- an appreciation of practical design problems and how to solve these.

The course stimulates interest, enjoyment and personal enrichment as well as introducing artistic exploration and design thinking.

Prior learning

We recommend that candidates who are beginning this course should have previously completed a Cambridge O Level or Cambridge IGCSE course in Art or Art and Design or the equivalent.

Progression

Cambridge International A Level Art and Design provides a suitable foundation for the study of Art and Design or related courses in higher education. Equally it is suitable for candidates intending to pursue careers or further study in Art and Design, or as part of a course of general education.

Cambridge International AS Level Art and Design constitutes the first half of the Cambridge International A Level course in Art and Design and therefore provides a suitable foundation for the study of Art and Design at Cambridge International A Level and thence for related courses in higher education. Depending on local university entrance requirements, it may permit or assist progression directly to university courses in Art and Design or some other subjects. It is also suitable for candidates intending to pursue careers or further study in Art and Design, or as part of a course of general education.

1.4 Cambridge AICE (Advanced International Certificate of Education) Diploma

Cambridge AICE Diploma is the group award of the Cambridge International AS and A Level. It gives schools the opportunity to benefit from offering a broad and balanced curriculum by recognising the achievements of learners who pass examinations in three different curriculum groups:

- Mathematics and Science (Group 1)
- Languages (Group 2)
- Arts and Humanities (Group 3)

A Cambridge International A Level counts as a double-credit qualification and a Cambridge International AS Level counts as a single-credit qualification within the Cambridge AICE Diploma award framework.

To be considered for an AICE Diploma, a candidate must earn the equivalent of six credits by passing a combination of examinations at either double credit or single credit, with at least one course coming from each of the three curriculum groups.

Art and Design (9704) falls into Group 3, Arts and Humanities.

Credits gained from Cambridge AS Level Global Perspectives (8987) or Cambridge Pre-U Global Perspectives and Independent Research (9766) can be counted towards the Cambridge AICE Diploma, but candidates must also gain at least one credit from each of the three curriculum groups to be eligible for the award.

Learn more about the Cambridge AICE Diploma at www.cie.org.uk/qualifications/academic/uppersec/aice

The Cambridge AICE Diploma is awarded from examinations administered in the June and November series each year.

Detailed timetables are available from www.cie.org.uk/exams/officers

2.1 Support materials

Cambridge syllabuses, past question papers and examiner reports to cover the last examination series are on the Syllabus and Support Materials DVD, which we send to all Cambridge schools.

You can also go to our public website at www.cie.org.uk/alevel to download current and future syllabuses together with specimen papers or past question papers and examiner reports from one series.

For teachers at registered Cambridge schools a range of additional support materials for specific syllabuses is available online. For Teacher Support go to <http://teachers.cie.org.uk> (username and password required).

2.2 Resource lists

We work with publishers providing a range of resources for our syllabuses including textbooks, websites, CDs etc. Any endorsed, recommended and suggested resources are listed on both our public website and on Teacher Support.

The resource lists can be filtered to show all resources or just those which are endorsed or recommended by Cambridge. Resources endorsed by Cambridge go through a detailed quality assurance process and are written to align closely with the Cambridge syllabus they support.

2.3 Training

We offer a range of support activities for teachers to ensure they have the relevant knowledge and skills to deliver our qualifications. See www.cie.org.uk/events for further information.

3. Assessment at a glance

Centres and candidates may choose to:

- take all Advanced Level (Cambridge International A Level) components in the same examination series;
- follow a staged assessment route to Cambridge International A Level by taking the Advanced Subsidiary (AS) qualification at an earlier examination; if they reach the required standard, they go on to take the final parts of assessment;
- take the AS qualification only.

Cambridge International A Level: Cambridge International A Level candidates take all four components. They may choose to take Components 1 and 2 at an earlier series than Components 3 and 4 or take all components in the same series.

Cambridge International AS Level: AS candidates take Components 1 and 2 only.

5. Description of components

5.1 Component 1: Controlled Test

This is an externally-set assignment that is marked by Cambridge. The examination paper allows candidates to respond in various ways – for example: interpretative, design, abstract, photography, etc.

Candidates are expected to:

- develop a visual response
- observe directly from primary sources
- record, analyse and develop their ideas in two- and/or three-dimensions.

Candidates choose one question from the examination paper from which to make studies in any suitable colour/tone, medium, process or technique. The questions set will be broad and flexible, and may cover areas such as:

- landscapes
- individual objects
- the human figure
- transport
- world cultures
- seascapes
- interiors
- abstract effects: light and colour, reflective material, movement
- clothes and packaging
- religious art/architecture

There are also a number of design briefs and more specific questions for candidates who prefer greater guidance.

Candidates are allowed to decide, as far as is practical, where and how they wish to work within the limits of the questions. Candidates should discuss choice of source material with the teacher and organise it themselves.

Supporting work

- The question paper will be uploaded to the Teacher Support Site (<https://teachers.cie.org.uk>) on 1 January for the June examination series and 1 July for the November examination series.
- Question papers should be given to candidates as soon as they are received and candidates should have at least three weeks preparatory time.
- Candidates should use this time to choose the subject, form their ideas and make supporting studies.
- The supporting work must be no more than two sheets (four sides) of paper, no larger than A1 or equivalent, on which a number of smaller works may be suitably attached.
- This supporting work must be taken into the examination room and must be submitted for assessment along with the examination work.

Assessment

Assessment is by a 15 hour Controlled Test that is externally marked by Cambridge.

For further guidance, refer to the Appendix.

5.2 Component 2: Coursework

This involves one coursework project from one area of study given under Section 6, Syllabus content.

Candidates focus on research, development and realisation in depth. Unlike Component 3, greater emphasis is placed on the development of ideas and the use of processes rather than just a 'finished' outcome.

Candidates must submit: one coursework project and up to four sheets of supporting work (maximum A1 size).

- The coursework project can be either two- or three-dimensional and is defined as 'anything produced from the conception to the completion of the final item'. It should be the candidate's individual response, produced in the one area of study which is considered most appropriate.
- The supporting work must be selective and show the research, recording, development and critical evaluation undertaken during the course. It should include:
  - source material,
  - evidence of the development of ideas into personal solutions,
  - experiments with media and processes including trial samples,
  - examples of how the candidate's work is influenced by historical, contemporary and cultural factors.

The component as a whole should show the Personal Qualities, Manipulative, Artistic and Analytical Skills, Aesthetic Qualities and Knowledge and Critical Understanding shown by the candidate during the course.

Assessment

The Centre will assess the one coursework project together with the supporting work and award a single mark out of 100. This will then be externally moderated by Cambridge. Centres must select and send a sample covering the whole ability range. Refer to the Cambridge Handbook and the Cambridge Administrative Guide for further information.

For further guidance, refer to Section 7 (Instructions for the marking and moderation of coursework).

5.3 Component 3: Coursework

This involves one coursework project from one area of study given under Section 6 Syllabus content. The work may or may not be from the same area of study as work submitted for Component 2. If the same area is selected, candidates should look into a different process (e.g. Component 2: woven textiles, Component 3: printed textiles).

Candidates should focus on research, development and realisation in depth. Unlike Component 2, equal emphasis is placed on the resolution of the final piece and on the development of ideas and the use of processes.

Candidates must submit: one coursework project plus a folder of supporting work (maximum size A1, maximum ten sheets) and a sketchbook.

- The coursework project can be either two or three-dimensional and is defined as 'anything produced from the conception to the completion of the final item'. The coursework project should be the candidate's individual response, produced in the one area of study which is considered most appropriate.
- The supporting work must be selective and show the research, recording, development and critical evaluation undertaken during the course. It should include:
  - source material,
  - evidence of the development of ideas into personal solutions,
  - experiments with media and processes including trial samples,
  - examples of how the candidate's work is influenced by historical, contemporary and cultural factors.
- Candidates may study an area that includes approaches used in the earlier part of the course and this can be reflected in the folder of supporting work. The work must be directed towards one area of study to prepare for the coursework project.
- The folder of supporting work must not be larger than A1 and should contain a maximum of ten sheets of work.
- The sketchbook is used to record personal reflections during the course, relating to direct observation from first hand sources, the use of processes or visits to sites, workshops and exhibitions. The sketchbook should not be used as a scrapbook for brochures or photocopied material from secondary sources.

The component as a whole should show the Personal Qualities, Manipulative, Artistic and Analytical Skills, Aesthetic Qualities and Knowledge and Critical Understanding shown by the candidate during the course.

Assessment

The Centre will assess the one coursework project together with the folder and sketchbook and award a single mark out of 100. This will then be externally moderated by Cambridge. Centres must select and send a sample covering the whole ability range. Refer to the Cambridge Handbook and the Cambridge Administrative Guide for further information.

For further guidance, refer to Section 7 (Instructions for the marking and moderation of coursework).

5.4 Component 4: Personal Study

This is an internally set Component that will be assessed by Cambridge. Candidates will produce a detailed study of any aspect of the visual arts that may, but need not, relate to their work for Component 2 or Component 3: Coursework. This should be a critical and visual appraisal or theoretical study undertaken in a written and/or practical form. First-hand experience of the work must form at least part of the Study. Although it is envisaged that first-hand familiarity with, for example, a building or a design studio, will be the instigation of the candidate's interest, reference to other works not easily available except in reproduction may form a substantial part of the Study.

The Study may be presented in any appropriate format. If a balance of visual and written analysis is presented it should not exceed 3500 words. Alternatively, a carefully structured sequence of annotated drawings, paintings, photographs, prints or three-dimensional objects may be presented in any appropriate format. A carefully ordered slide, tape or video presentation or any combination of written or recorded analysis using graphic presentation is also permissible. (Centres should ensure that any digitised or multimedia presentation is backed up by a hard copy.)

An introduction, a conclusion and a bibliography are expected to be included in each type of presentation (no more than 3500 words, maximum size A1).

Whatever format candidates choose, they are advised to complete and submit an Outline Proposal Form (see Appendix) outlining:

- a title
- their intentions
- sources for first-hand study
- details of first-hand research undertaken (such as the sites, workshops, museums and exhibitions visited)
- suggested presentation
- bibliography.

Centres are encouraged to submit candidates' proposals to Cambridge for the advice of Moderators. Centres should aim to submit them by 30 April for the November examination series and 31 October for the June examination series. Forms received within six weeks of these submission dates will be acknowledged, but will not receive any advice or comments.

The Personal Study as a whole should show the Personal Qualities, Manipulative, Artistic and Analytical Skills, Aesthetic Qualities and Knowledge and Critical Understanding demonstrated by the candidate through his/her investigation.

Assessment

This Component will be externally marked by Cambridge.

Centres are advised to refer to the Outline Proposal Form examples (Appendix).

6. Syllabus content

---

Art and Design covers a broad range of related activities, areas and approaches to study. This syllabus allows Centres to emphasise their strengths in terms of staff expertise and interests, and allows candidate choice. It provides a suitable range of study within the subject.

All assessments follow the assessment objectives regardless of the chosen area of study.

Centres can design their own course of study, by selecting from the following:

Areas of study

- Painting and Related Media
- Sculpture
- Printmaking
- Textiles
- Graphic Design
- Photography, Digital and Lens Media
- Ceramics
- Fashion Design

For Components 2 and 3 candidates must specialise in one of the above areas. This list is not exhaustive and other areas of study – e.g. jewellery, puppetry – are quite acceptable. The following details are to be used for guidance only and are not prescriptive or comprehensive. The intention is for candidates to follow a field of study in research, development and realisation, at some depth.

Painting and Related Media

The following materials can be used. They may also be combined or used with other materials –, e.g. collage:

- oil colour,
- water-colour,
- acrylic,
- gouache,
- powder or poster paint,
- coloured inks,
- pen and wash,
- pastels,
- oil pastels,
- coloured pencils,
- pencil,
- charcoal.

The work may include still life, portraiture, landscape studies or abstract and figurative compositions.

It may either express, or it may record a response to the visual world.

Candidates should have a broad understanding of the history of painting and other channels of visual communications.

The resources of museums, galleries, local collections or exhibitions should be used to make a first-hand study of paintings wherever possible.

Textiles

Candidates should be encouraged to develop designs from original drawings, experiment with threads and fabrics, and make the design into a finished piece of artwork.

Visits to museums, collections and practising designers are essential to help candidates to appreciate the historical development and current trends within this coursework area.

Study needs to include functional design as well as the purely decorative aspects of the craft.

Candidates should explore the main areas of the craft: woven textiles, embroidery, fashion and design, printed and dyed textiles.

Candidates may wish to specialise in only one of these areas, but there should also be awareness of how the areas could be combined:

(i) Woven textiles

The course could include aspects of:

- looms and the equipment used in setting up warps;
- the properties of natural and man-made fibres;
- experimental weaving using raffia, string, beads, etc.

(ii) Embroidery

The course needs to be broad in approach, including functional and decorative items in two and three dimensions. Candidates should understand the properties of materials and threads, and the ways in which they can be used to explore ideas and create structures.

(iii) Fabric Printing

Candidates should be familiar with a range of methods of decorating cloth. These include block printing, tie-dye, batik, silk-screen printing, spraying or airbrushing. The use of natural and synthetic fabrics and dyes should be explored for different effects. The function of the cloth in terms of drape, pattern, size and colour alternatives needs to be considered.

Ceramics

Candidates should be familiar with hand-building techniques, throwing and casting and have some knowledge of the use of decorating slips, oxides and pigments. They should have some understanding of glaze-mixing, glazes and different methods of firing and finishing work.

Museum and gallery visits should be made where feasible.

Awareness of historical and current developments within ceramics is an important part of the course.

Candidates should be aware of the links between form and function, and their relationships to the different forms of ceramics being produced today: expressive fine-art work, industrial ceramics and traditional handcrafted pottery.

The coursework project should demonstrate understanding of these distinctions and should show the development of a personal style. Emphasis is placed on exploring ideas and design work.

Sculpture

Candidates may work with traditional or new materials.

They may specialise in one area – carving, modelling or construction – but they should be able to solve problems of related mass and space and have a broad understanding of form.

The work may be figurative or abstract, and may take the form of relief, mobile, free-standing or kinetic sculpture.

Candidates should be aware of the range of materials and methods available, although they are likely to develop skills in one of the following areas:

(i) Carving

Wood, stone, etc.

(ii) Modelling

- in clay and fired
- in clay and cast in plaster, concrete, fibreglass, metal, etc.
- in plaster over an armature

(iii) Construction

Wood, metal, plastic, wire, card, mixed media

(iv) Soft Sculpture

Fabric, leather, rope, plastic, etc.

Candidates are expected to understand the role of sculpture in society – as personal response to form, mass, space and void, as a magical, religious, celebratory or political image or as an integral part of architecture.

Graphic Design

Candidates may specialise in one of these areas but should be aware of how the areas could be combined:

Graphics, Illustration, Package Design, Computer Graphics

(i) Graphics

- The graphics can be for any purpose: information, publication, advertising, including typography, calligraphy and in any medium.
- A clear written brief must be attached to the work. Preliminary work, in the folder of supporting work, must be clearly marked to show how it relates to the work submitted.
- The briefs may cover, for example, corporate identity, layout work, symbols and visual communication of information – e.g. book jackets, CD and DVD packaging, posters and brochures.
- Candidates should have a good working vocabulary and be familiar with terms such as 'half tone' and 'overlays'.
- Typography is not treated as a separate area. Candidates should use established and modern typefaces. These may be hand-drawn or produced by another method.

(ii) Illustration

- Illustration can be for any purpose and from any source material.
- Candidates should experiment with as many techniques as possible, pen and ink, gouache, watercolour, airbrush, printing, painting, coloured pencil and pastel, etc.

(iii) Package Design

- This can be package design for any product or material.
- The aesthetics of the design need to be balanced with the functional and production requirements.
- The design should be presented in both two- and three-dimensional forms.
- The brief includes both the graphics and the three-dimensional shape of the package.
- Production methods, including the engineering of card and printing processes, should be covered.

(iv) Computer Graphics

- Computer graphics work should show that the fundamental concepts are understood, using whatever software is available. As wide a range of software as possible should be available and include, at least, access to an art package/graphics package, a CAD package, a range of fonts and a colour printer.
- Access to the use of a digital recorder and video digitiser scanner, though not essential, would be helpful.
- The work should show how a computer can represent information graphically, either in sequential or individual presentation. The information may be used in a variety of ways (general advertising, the design of logos using lettering and mirror images, magazine and newspaper layout using text and illustration, repeat and reversed patterns for 2D designs and the initial frames of television programmes or moving display frames).
- A full explanation of the brief must be attached to the work.
- Work must be presented in the form of hard copy with the hardware and software package used clearly acknowledged on the work.
- Disks or memory sticks used by candidates should be held by the Centre until after the work has been marked.

Fashion Design

Candidates should explore personal solutions in designing garments or items for personal adornment for different occasions and age groups.

They should identify dress requirements for specific purposes, occasions and environments, and suggest practically how these may be met.

They should consider and understand the different purposes of clothing and the way in which this affects the design and fabric used in production.

Candidates should look at the function of clothing in terms of protection and warmth as well as ease of wear.

The psychological influence of wearing particular garments or adornments should also be considered.

To help understand feasibility and production, candidates need to consider the properties of different materials and how fashion items are constructed.

They should also be aware of the balance between the function and the conventions that influence fashion and, in particular, those factors that bring about change over time.

Candidates should be aware of the changes in technology which have influenced fashion items.

Candidates' designs should demonstrate their knowledge of shape, line, colour and texture.

Candidates should have some knowledge of contemporary fashion designers. Visits to fashion shows and/or garment construction outlets are encouraged.

Printmaking

Candidates should develop traditional methods and materials, and explore new areas of the various printmaking techniques.

Any manual or photographic technique may be used to make a print.

Any combination of techniques may be used in any one print.

Each print should be presented with a margin of virgin paper around the image with edition details, title and candidate's name.

Any source of inspirational material may be used.

The folder of supporting work may contain ideas for work in a variety of techniques but the actual coursework project undertaken may be limited to only one method.

The work of the candidate should reveal the qualities of an edition print.

Candidates should be aware of both the history of printmaking and the work of contemporary printmakers.

Work created to prepare and develop the prints should be included in the folder of supporting work.

(i) Relief Prints

Images from any kind of block may be used, either in colour or tone. Reduction prints, multiple blocks of any texture or shape, figurative or abstract work from any inspirational source may be used.

(ii) Intaglio

Intaglio etching or dry point may be submitted, on any suitable surface in colour or tone, figurative or abstract and from any stimulus. Use of both hard and soft grounds, the process of burnishing, stopping-out and aquatint can be employed. More than one copy of a print should be retained at each stage and included in the folder of supporting work to show the various steps in the production of a finished print.

(iii) Planographic methods

Planographic methods such as silk screening, lithography, or card printing may be used. As in the other sections within printmaking, any exploration or development is allowed.

Photography, Digital and Lens Media

Candidates should use traditional and/or new media processes to produce outcomes such as photomontage, printed photography, digital photography, photographic or digital installation, video and animation, film and digital creation and manipulation. Work may be in colour and/or black and white.

Candidates should demonstrate an expressive and/or interpretative artistic response to the visual world. They should show an understanding of the convention of photography and genres such as portrait, landscape and movement, and a range of techniques appropriate to their chosen field.

Consideration of the following techniques should be given:

- depth of field,
- film speed/shutter speed,
- lighting/exposure,
- tone and/or colour,
- viewpoint/composition,
- framing,
- editing,
- transitions.

Candidates should also show skills in experimenting with media and processes such as:

- abstracting,
- illustrating,
- documenting,
- developing and printing of films,
- darkroom practice (pin-hole cameras, burning in, masking, photograms, solarisation, multiple exposure, reversal printing),
- alternative print processes (liquid emulsions, bleaching, resist, toning, use of specialist papers or other photosensitive surfaces),
- creation and manipulation of images with computers,
- image scanning and manipulation,
- editing, perhaps using sound.

Photography may be used as a means of recording fragile, large or time-based work (e.g. work in perishable media, installations, mural work, performance) and the photographic record will be considered and assessed as part of the submission.

Candidates must provide appropriate evidence of the authenticity of their work such as contact prints, thumbnails of original digital photographs or storyboards.

Any moving image work (no longer than three minutes) should be submitted on DVD, or alternatively on CD in common forms of digital format such as in Mpeg or WMV. Candidates may develop their own blogs or video blogs, and social networking sites can be used, but the authenticity of the work produced must be evidenced in the supporting work showing the development of ideas. All research must be clearly referenced.

Still imagery

Candidates should demonstrate their skill in the production of still images through a lens-based approach. Candidates will demonstrate an understanding and control of equipment in order to produce work that is personal. Using a wide range of methods, techniques and processes candidates will produce imagery that is their own work. Candidates may develop their own work using dark room facilities, if available; however, the use of commercially processed photographs is acceptable.

For candidates using digital lens-based media, their work should show evidence of the manipulation and presentation of the imagery using a computer. A variety of approaches and processes can be used together and candidates could present their work in a variety of ways – either printed images or electronically as a slide show using PowerPoint, on a CD-ROM or web site, for example. Lighting and sound may be used as appropriate.

Moving Imagery

Candidates should demonstrate an understanding of the recording and the presentation of moving images. Sound may also be included as appropriate. Candidates should be familiar with a range of techniques, resources and processes such as storyboards, animation, digital editing, PowerPoint, CD-ROMs and interactive websites.

7. Instructions for the marking and moderation of coursework

Internal Moderation

When several teachers in a Centre are involved in internal assessments, arrangements must be made within the Centre for all candidates to be assessed to a common standard.

It is essential that within each Centre the marks within different teaching groups (e.g. different classes and different specialisms such as Textiles, Photography, etc.) are moderated internally for the whole Centre entry. The Centre assessments will then be subject to external moderation by Cambridge.

External moderation

External moderation of internal assessment is carried out by Cambridge. Centres must submit the internally assessed marks for all candidates to Cambridge. Centres also send a selection of coursework samples to Cambridge.

The subject teacher should complete the Coursework Summary Form and then work with their exams officer to make sure the total internally moderated mark for each candidate is submitted to Cambridge according to the instructions in the Cambridge Administrative Guide. The marks must be submitted no later than 30 April for the June examination and 31 October for the November examination.

Teachers should work with their exams officer to make sure the coursework samples are selected and submitted along with the supporting forms according to the instructions in Cambridge Administrative Guide. The coursework samples must be submitted to Cambridge no later than 30 April for the June examination and 31 October for the November examination.

Each Centre must ensure that each candidate's work is clearly identified by name and candidate number.

The moderator will check that:

- the marking criteria have been applied
- the marking is accurate and consistent
- the marking has been standardised if more than one marker has been used.

Each Centre must ensure that all the work submitted for moderation is clearly labelled.

8.2 A Guide to Administering Art and Design

Art and design practical examinations often have specific requirements which are usually different from written examinations. In the majority of cases they will be held in the art studio but a significant number of Centres may choose to hold them in standard classrooms. Depending on the media that candidates are using, they may find that they have a considerable amount of equipment and materials in their work space. In addition, some candidates will need to be able to move around the studio because they need to access specific technical equipment and different materials.

These guidelines should be consulted by the teacher, prior to, during, and after the examination, and also by the invigilator.

You are advised to contact Cambridge where an issue arises that is not covered in these guidelines.

Part 1: Prior to starting any supporting work

Teacher information

Size of Work

Before candidates begin to plan their Controlled Test piece or start their supporting work, they must be aware of the size restrictions.

Inappropriate Material

Candidates may work in any appropriate media. Cambridge does not wish to restrict the creative process behind works of art, but Teachers are reminded that the use of inappropriate media can be potentially dangerous to those handling the work and to the examiners. The following is a list of items presented in the past that are deemed to be inappropriate.

- Hypodermic needles
- Syringes
- Any glass, including mirrors
- Animal skin
- Fresh organic matter
- Barbed wire
- Plaster
- Unfired clay
- Razor blades
- Plant material with roots attached

Centres are advised to contact Cambridge if they are in doubt about the suitability of materials. Any work carried out in an inappropriate medium will not be assessed if Health and Safety considerations render this impossible. Teachers must be aware that certain materials will create problems with Customs and Excise or are CITES (Convention on International Trade of Endangered Species) listed.

Use of Sketchbooks

Candidates should be advised they may use a sketchbook for any drawings/other research material. If a candidate wishes to submit any of this as supporting work, then this must be detached from the sketchbook prior to the start of the Controlled Test.

Part 2: Prior to the Controlled Test – supporting work

Invigilator and teacher Information

AS/A level 9704/01 candidates must have at least three weeks<sup>1</sup> preparatory period in which to produce their supporting work.

During the preparatory period, candidates should produce supporting work in response to one question from the question paper. They must bring this supporting work into the examination as their reference material.

Any pre-prepared material, such as outlines or sketches made onto the examination paper/canvas in advance of the examination, or pre-prepared tracings, are not allowed<sup>2</sup>. The supporting work alone should act as the source material for the examination and any tracing or copying that is required (e.g. for repeat-pattern designs for textiles) should take place during the examination.

If tracing paper is required during the examination (e.g. for repeat-pattern designs for textiles), then it must be attached to the supporting studies as evidence; this will, however, not contribute to the total number of sheets of supporting studies. Candidates' own photographs may be used as reference material but must also be submitted with the supporting studies (either mounted on the supporting studies sheets or included in a labelled envelope and attached to the work). Candidates must not take enlarged photographs into the examination to trace from.

Supporting work must be brought into the examination room at the start of the examination and must not leave the examination room until it is sent to Cambridge with the final examination piece. Candidates are not allowed access to their supporting work between examination sessions and they cannot replace work or submit additional supporting work once the examination has started. All supporting work must be labelled and must be clearly distinguishable from the final examination piece.

When the candidates arrive, ensure that all their supporting work is placed on their work stations.

All supporting work and examination work must be made secure after each session and overnight at the end of each day. Candidates who have not brought any supporting work to the start of the examination will not be allowed to submit any at a later time. They should be instructed to start the examination piece and not attempt to produce supporting work during the allotted examination time.

Candidates are not allowed to take books/magazines into the examination room as supporting work.

Additional Note for Teachers

Teachers are reminded that candidates should select sufficient supporting work to support the final examination piece(s). Supporting work comprise the candidate's own work/photographs, and should be selected and organised in a manner that shows research, exploration of ideas, development of theme and experiments with media and materials.

1 three weeks is defined as school weeks in term time. Any holiday time that might fall within the period should not be counted.

2 Unless permission for a specific task has been granted by Cambridge.

Part 3: The Controlled Test – preparation of materials

Invigilator and teacher information

The following are examples of where assistance may be provided:

- loading and firing of ceramic ware
- welding of armatures
- selection of types of dye and/or chemicals

The following are NOT to be included in the time allowance for the examination:

- arrangement of still-life groups
- mixing of photographic chemicals and washing and drying of prints
- drying and firing of ceramic ware (AS/A level only)
- rest periods for life models
- casting, mounting and trimming of work
- stretching of screens/preparation of blocks
- trimming and mounting of finished piece(s).

All ceramic work must be fired before submission. Candidates undertaking any ceramic work should have their examination scheduled as early as possible within the period, as considerable time is needed for drying and firing. It is also advisable to photograph ceramic work at each stage, in case of accidents in the kiln.

Any painted work must be carried out in a quick-drying medium and must be completely dry before it is despatched.

Part 4: Invigilation of the Controlled Test

Invigilator and teacher information

The teacher who has prepared the candidates for the examination must not be the sole invigilator. However, it is necessary for a teacher who has prepared the candidates to be available at the start of each examination session and as required throughout the whole examination to deal with any technical issues that may arise (see the Cambridge Handbook).

1. Familiarise yourself with the Checklist for Invigilators, which applies to Invigilators of both written and practical examinations. Cambridge regulations require that all persons, except members of staff acting as invigilators, or other authorised personnel such as artist's models, and the candidates engaged in each examination, must be excluded from the examination room.
2. Prior to the arrival of the candidates and the start of the examination, familiarise yourself with the set up of the room. It is unlikely that the room will be free from art work but you should be confident that candidates cannot easily access any work that is not their own, to copy or submit as their own.
3. Where possible, candidates should carry out the work in sessions lasting no more than three hours. AS/A level 9704 candidates will normally require three consecutive days (15 hours) to be set aside to complete the examination.
4. Centres are provided with a final date by which the examination must be completed and should schedule the examination date(s) accordingly within that period. In some cases it may be necessary for Centres to schedule different groups of candidates to take the same examination on different days. For example 9704/01 candidates A to M take the examination on 4, 5 and 6 April and candidates N to Z take the same examination on 10, 11 and 12 April.
5. In some cases, it may be necessary for examination dates to be rescheduled. Candidates who may qualify for Special Consideration due to missing part of the examination because of recent illness, accident, etc. (see the Cambridge Handbook) may be advised to reschedule their examination later in the period. Centres are advised to refer to the Cambridge Handbook and to seek clarification from Cambridge.

Rescheduling within the period should not be used to accommodate candidates who might have failed to turn up for a session without good reason.

6. It remains the Centre's discretion to permit the use of mp3 players, personal radios, mobile/cell phones (for candidates to listen to music). Centres must be aware that many such devices also store visual images and that invigilation must ensure that candidates only use them to play music.
7. All candidates must be provided with their own equipment such as scissors, erasers, paint, etc. Candidates should not need to share basic art equipment.
8. During the examination, it is recognised that some movement by candidates and spoken instructions may be necessary – but ensure that these are essential to the examination. All equipment and chemicals should be arranged so as to minimise the need for any movement. Candidates should initially direct questions/issues relating to technical matters and materials to the invigilator, who will in turn refer them to the available technician/teacher.
9. Candidates must not talk to each other or distract each other in any way.
10. The invigilator must be constantly vigilant and observant.
11. The invigilator should be around the studio. In the unlikely event that there is a serious breach of examination security (e.g. obvious collusion between candidates), the Head of Centre should be informed and the incident detailed on the Supervisor's Report. Cambridge must be informed immediately of any such incident. If a candidate is disruptive, the Head of Centre should be informed and the candidate should be removed quietly from the examination room. Again, Cambridge must be informed immediately of such an incident.
12. If a candidate appears to be having problems with faulty equipment or if they incur any accidents such as water being spilt and spoiling work, inform the teacher/technician. A note should be made on the Supervisor's Report of any such help given to the candidate and included with the work for despatch to Cambridge.
13. Invigilators and teachers/technicians must not comment on any aspect of the work, and should not communicate with candidates except for administrative or safety reasons. It is permissible for teachers/technicians to instruct candidates on clearing up and tidying procedures at the end of the session and as appropriate throughout the examination.
14. If a candidate is experiencing difficulties in the examination, communication should be with that candidate only and general announcements should not be made. If there is a problem with the equipment supplied, an announcement may be made but, again, a note must be made in the Supervisor's Report, detailing the announcement and reasons, and included in the scripts for despatch to Cambridge.

Part 5: At the end of the Controlled Test

Teacher information

1. Work carried out using chalk, pastels or charcoal must be fixed before despatch.
2. Candidates' work should not be individually wrapped in tissue paper or protective film. If necessary, a single loose sheet of tissue paper can be placed on top of the work.
3. Trimming and mounting of work should be completed after the examination but the Centre must ensure that the work remains secure and within the size restrictions. Centres are advised not to mount work using heavy card or board.
4. Candidates must be instructed to label their work correctly. The candidate's name, number and Centre number must all be written clearly on the labels provided. The label must be attached to the top right-hand corner of the front of each sheet of work. As a precaution, the same information should be written clearly on the reverse of the work.

5. If a candidate has produced supporting work that they then decide they do not wish to submit for assessment, this work must be handed to the invigilator at the end of the examination. The work should be clearly marked up as 'not to be submitted' and the Centre must ensure that this work is retained securely until after the end of the enquiries about results period.

Part 6: Despatch of Controlled Test and supporting work

Teacher information

1. The work should be packed in the large white plastic envelopes provided by Cambridge. Work for each component must be packed and sent separately. All work should be sent to:

Cambridge International Examinations
Hill Farm Road
Whittlesford
Cambridge
United Kingdom
CB22 4FZ

2. The examination work and the appropriate supporting work must be packed together with the examination work on top. Supporting work must be securely fastened to the examination piece at the top left-hand corner, and it must be packed in candidate number order so that candidate with the lowest candidate number is placed on top of the pile, i.e. the order in which the candidates appear on the attendance register. The attendance register must be placed on the top of the pile.
3. Work should not be folded or rolled.
4. Any 3D work must be packed in durable containers and in such a way as to minimise the movement of the work within the container. Centres are advised to obtain polythene 'bubble wrap'. Newspaper and sawdust are not suitable packing materials.
5. All work and supporting work must be sent to Cambridge as soon as it is completed. Centres should not wait until the end of the examination period before despatching the work.

Equality and inclusion

Cambridge International Examinations has taken great care in the preparation of this syllabus and assessment materials to avoid bias of any kind. To comply with the UK Equality Act (2010), Cambridge has designed this qualification with the aim of avoiding direct and indirect discrimination.

The standard assessment arrangements may present unnecessary barriers for candidates with disabilities or learning difficulties. Arrangements can be put in place for these candidates to enable them to access the assessments and receive recognition of their attainment. Access arrangements will not be agreed if they give candidates an unfair advantage over others or if they compromise the standards being assessed.

Candidates who are unable to access the assessment of any component may be eligible to receive an award based on the parts of the assessment they have taken.

Information on access arrangements is found in the Cambridge Handbook which can be downloaded from the website www.cie.org.uk

Language

This syllabus and the associated assessment materials are available in English only.

Grading and reporting

Cambridge International A Level results are shown by one of the grades A*, A, B, C, D or E, indicating the standard achieved, A* being the highest and E the lowest. 'Ungraded' indicates that the candidate's performance fell short of the standard required for grade E. 'Ungraded' will be reported on the statement of results but not on the certificate. The letters Q (result pending); X (no results) and Y (to be issued) may also appear on the statement of results but not on the certificate.

Cambridge International AS Level results are shown by one of the grades a, b, c, d or e, indicating the standard achieved, 'a' being the highest and 'e' the lowest. 'Ungraded' indicates that the candidate's performance fell short of the standard required for grade 'e'. 'Ungraded' will be reported on the statement of results but not on the certificate. The letters Q (result pending); X (no results) and Y (to be issued) may also appear on the statement of results but not on the certificate.

If a candidate takes a Cambridge International A Level and fails to achieve grade E or higher, a Cambridge International AS Level grade will be awarded if both of the following apply:

- the components taken for the Cambridge International A Level by the candidate in that series included all the components making up a Cambridge International AS Level
- the candidate's performance on these components was sufficient to merit the award of a Cambridge International AS Level grade.

For languages other than English, Cambridge also reports separate speaking endorsement grades (Distinction, Merit and Pass), for candidates who satisfy the conditions stated in the syllabus.

Entry codes

To maintain the security of our examinations we produce question papers for different areas of the world, known as 'administrative zones'. Where the component entry code has two digits, the first digit is the component number given in the syllabus. The second digit is the location code, specific to an administrative zone. Information about entry codes, examination timetables and administrative instructions for your administrative zone can be found in the Cambridge Guide to Making Entries.
